Our Alberta Heritage WESTERN CANADIAN PIONEER MUSEUM

1911 Franklin

History of pioneer transportation captured in this unique collection

An enterprising father and son team, Ted and Stan Reynolds, have created one of the most unusual museums in our province. Here are authentic stage coaches and old time vehicles, such as the open buggies that provided prairie transportation in the days when "horse power" meant just that. Four hundred steam and internal combustion engines, stationary and traction models in broadly varying design, are prominent in the collection. You'll see pioneer cars dating way back to 1899 including the 1904 Cadillac and Olds 1 cylinder runabouts, 1908 Baker and 1911 Hupp Yeats electric cars, 1911 Franklin air cooled, 1916 V-twelve cylinder National, Cord front wheel drive and the Brooks steam car. There's even a Gypsy Moth biplane, a horse drawn hearse, and a 1912 aerial ladder fire truck. The Western Canadian Pioneer Museum in Wetaskiwin is more than a historical storehouse. It represents a tremendous outlay of interest, time and effort by two imaginative Albertans, in creating a permanent tribute to the pioneer history of our Alberta.

Next time you're travelling highway No. 2, stop and visit the Western Canadian Pioneer Museum at Wetaskiwin. It's open every day from May 1 to October 1.

Action At The McGregor Race Meet

THEY'RE OFF! As the starting gates spring open, thoroughbreds above bolt out and down the track at the annual Lake McGregor Race Meet, held in June. Nearest the camera is Barbara Eresman whose skill in the saddle and choice of mounts brought her a good afternoon. Starter this year was Ole Willard who, along with Tom Beckner and Bill Gooch has worked the starting gates for many a year. Now retired in Calgary, Tom Beckner pulled his trailer into the camp ground adjacent to the track and said, "You bet I'm back, after all the years I've been tied up with this race, I wouldn't miss it for the world." Getting the horses into the gates can be a problem but one who put her money on Badger Peanuts and collected $53 on a $2 ticket. This good fortune was followed by other wise choices but in the end she broke a bone in her foot coming out of the stands which should leave some kind of a moral.

Another benefit to the racing is the presence of Harry Patton, a representative of the racing association, who generally oversees the program and can be called on for advice in any disputes which may arise.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lomond, Alta.
July 29, 1966

Editor, The Advocate

In reply to the letter which appears in your Advocate of July 27 and is signed so boldly "Disgusted Ex-Lomondite", all I can say is, if a person is ashamed to sign their name, they should keep their "righteous indignation" to themselves. This person is "thoroughly disgusted" with the "Lomond Anniversary Celebration Committee", stating that "one out of thirteen represented Lomond." Pray may I ask "Which is the honored one?"

In the first place I think this person is thoroughly confused and has all the wires crossed. The Anniversary Committee consisted of 19 members of which I was one. These members were chosen as one delegate from every active organization in the district, which by the way includes Armada, Badger Lake and Travers. We handled the Celebration to the best of our ability and I was proud to have been with these people on this committee. For the next 50 years Celebration perhaps the person who wrote this letter could volunteer his or her help, or perhaps the help of your children. I'm sure I won't be around and after the work and worry this committee endured, (to say nothing of your beautiful bouquet) I'm not too sure you would get any volunteers from this group.

Or perhaps this "Disgusted Ex-Lomondite," is gunning for the Book Committee. These thirteen members, (and by the way we consider them all Lomondites) put in a year's labour on a five year project. If only you knew the hours that went into that book. The many stories of the lives of the oldtimers which had to be cut down, not because they weren't worthy of print, but because so many people responded so wholeheartedly and so wanted their families represented.

You mention J. R. McKay, E. M. Benson, P. Ost, J. Rogers, John Prezer, George Hodgins, A. Wade, Mr. Bell Sr., Frank and Bill Newton, Bert Duffy, Al Vankleek, Roy Williams, Bill Smith, Carl Maronda, Andrew and Jack Hartwick and Claude Blake. Possibly two of these early settlers were missed, Al Vankleek and J. Prizer because no one sent in their history, but do you expect any committee to remember or be able to dig up history on every resident who has ever lived in Lomond or districts?

What makes the people of Township 16-20 so much more important than those of the surrounding districts? It is the people of Armada, Badger Lake, Travers and surrounding districts who have kept this Lomond alive, who have kept their schools operating, who have helped build our Community Centre and by the way, are keeping that Centre running today with volunteer labour in our Community Centre Canteen for four months of the year. We who know what keeps our town alive, take off our hats to the residents of Armada, Badger Lake and Travers.

As to the "Rolling Prairie School", it hasn't been forgotten; you'll find it on page 300 of the "History of Lomond and District". It's there, right along with all the other Early Schools of the District. To have enlarged on all by these early schools would have taken pages of our book. I say, "A vote of thanks to our Book Committee for a task well done." To compile the histories in that book and have it published in one year was no easy task.

As to the Anniversary Supplement in the Advocate, I have no idea where the Editor got his information, or just what was in that supplement, but from what I remember it seems to me it was a pretty good representation of the district as a whole. We who live here at Lomond do not consider Township 16-20 as Lomond District. We have a large territory, from Lake McGregor to the Bow River and we are justly proud of every resident in this district. I must confess I'm going to purchase another copy of that Advocate and read that supplement again. At the time it was published I don't think there was a committee member who had time to read it, much less worry about whose dignity was being hurt.

A "disgusted" member of the Lomond Anniversary Committee, Mrs. Leonard Huff P.S. Dear "Disgusted", Since writing the above letter I have obtained a copy of the Supplement and have read every word in it. If you will invest $6.00 in the "History of Lomond and District," you will find the articles from which the Editor obtained his information. I still maintain it is excellent coverage of the Lomond District.

CHURCH NOTES

IN EARLY DAYS. Lomond as it was remembered in the minds of many who attended its recent 50th anniversary celebration, is shown above. Best depicting the condition of things is the message which appeared on this post-card photo which reads, "Am sending this instead of a letter as I didn't have time to write one. Am in town today. Just got through harvesting Aug. 8. We think it will turn out fairly good. At least, better than lots of them. There are very few in these parts that have any at all."

FUN. Karen, Kathy and Tina Thiessen of Lomond are shown as they enjoyed themselves at the Lions playground at the village before the 50th anniversary celebrations began.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Bow City, Alberta.
July 30, 1966

Editor, The Advocate:

Dear Sir,
The letter from "Disgusted Ex-Lomondite" has prompted me to write. It would appear to me, that D. Ex-L read the Anniversary supplement in the Advocate but not the book. I was a little disappointed (but not disgusted) in the supplement, until I got the book; then I could see, as was mentioned in the supplement, that it couldn't begin to touch on all the history contained in the 370 pages of the book.

It appears to me that this book is not only a history of Lomond (as our disgusted writer suggests), but also of the surrounding districts, including Travers, Bow City, Armada, and the Valley to the west. Most of the "History of the Pioneers" was written by the families of those pioneers, not by the committee.

Having worked on a few committees myself, I know how thankless this job can be, so I am saying, "Thank You," from the bottom of my heart, for a wonderful job well done. It must have involved a tremendous amount of work. I read it from cover to cover and enjoyed every bit of it. Now, whenever an argument arises here, about old times, the standard answer is "Wait a minute, I'll look it up in the book."

My sentiments, regarding the whole event, were adequately expressed, by John Mickelsen in his letter appearing beside that of D. Ex-L, so I will say, like him, again, thank you one and all.

Ross McKay
Bow City, Alta.

PALE WESTERN CUTWORM FORECAST FOR 1967

For the first time in almost a decade, the pale western cutworm caused no reported damage during the 1966 season. The adverse weather during the egg-laying period last fall and the generally good crop growing conditions this year are mainly responsible for this light outbreak.

A cutworm forecast for 1967, prepared by L. A. Jacobson and H. McDonald, of the Canada Agriculture Research Stations at Lethbridge and Saskatoon, respectively indicates that only light infestations of the pale western cutworm are likely to occur. Isolated fields in east-central and southeastern Alberta and in adjacent areas in Saskatchewan may incur some losses, particularly if the early 1967 season is warm and dry. Infestations of the red-backed cutworm are expected to be light and spotty in both provinces. This forecast is based on surveys of cutworms, reports of damage, and rainfall recorded in May and June.

The following methods of prevention should be adopted in 1966 to reduce increases in population and minimize infestations for 1967.

Summerfallowing for pale western cutworm prevention.—Pale western cutworm infestations in next spring's summerfallow crop can be prevented by keeping the fields being fallowed unsuitable for egg-laying this fall. To accomplish this, all weed growth should be destroyed late in July and the fields then left undisturbed throughout August and the first half of September, when the moths are laying eggs. Rains occurring after the late tillage will form a crust on the soil surface. Moths will not lay their eggs in fields that are crusted. Disturbance of the crust by allowing livestock to pasture or run on the field may be as serious as if the field had been worked.

On the medium soils the crust formed by rain will remain unbroken for long periods unless disturbed by livestock or implements. On some of the heavy soils, however, the crust may break down after a period of dry weather. Where these soils occur, complete prevention of egg-laying may be forecast will be made later, if obtained only if there are rains at intervals during the egg-laying period in August and September.

When summerfallow fields are well worked during the early summer and the weeds are destroyed as late in July as possible, subsequent weed growth normally will not be sufficient to require tillage during the period August 1-September 15. When the pale western is the chief cutworm species, the surface crust should not be disturbed by tillage, even if weed growth does develop.

The present forecast is preliminary. It is made to enable farmers in the areas of greatest risk to plan their summerfallow operations for the remainder of the season so that cutworm infestations may be prevented. A final

PRUNING MANUAL

Even if it is in the middle of the summer, I couldn't resist mentioning a new publication on Pruning. This is the most comprehensive booklet I have ever seen on the subject. Really, it isn't the wrong time of the year to be thinking about pruning as lilacs and many other spring flowering shrubs can be pruned now. We have copies of this pamphlet available now.

RARE OR WELL DONE! A plug for the Milo Lions Club annual community barbecue on August 14, was tied in with the float entered by the club at this year's Lake McGregor Race Meet parade. Pete Silbernagle, left, with the stomach, checks the full sized skeleton while Lloyd Armstrong tests the meat and stirs the coals below with a pitch fork. The kitchen technique was a little primitive and the boys won't qualify as triple A class restaurateurs but following the parade the boys promised to hose off the beef and hang it in the sun behind the barn to age slowly till the 14th. The most humorous action from this float came when it approached the overhead finish wire which crossed above the parade route. Suddenly realizing that the two decorative trees front and aft on the float were too high to pass under the wire, Pete spent an anxious minute hollering "Whoa" to the driver pulling the float, while whacking at the trees with a hand axe.
